Re: Closing Immigrant Detention Facilities

Dear President Biden,

We, the undersigned groups, believe that the best traditions of our country demand that we protect the rights and dignity of people who come to our nation in pursuit of safety or a better life. We urge you to recognize that our shared values of humanity and compassion require the dismantling of our system of mass immigrant detention. In particular, we urge you to support the closure of Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention sites, prevent the development of new detention sites or expansion of existing ones, and seek reduced funding for immigration detention from Congress. Now is the time for principled leadership following the long-awaited court ruling lifting the Title 42 public health expulsion order. As your administration stands up processing of individuals, we urge you to not fall back on harmful, arbitrary, and unnecessary detention in response to people seeking protection.

Immigrant Detention is Inhumane

Inhumane conditions and treatment are rife across the immigrant detention system. Examples include Baker County Detention Center, where people have been pepper sprayed while already pinned down or confined and targeted with anti-Black racial slurs and harassment. Women at Baker have endured humiliation—such as being denied sanitary napkins and clean clothes, forcing them to sleep in blood-soaked sheets.1 At Stewart Detention Center, women have been forced to engage in sexual contact with a staff member, blocked from leaving medical exam rooms, and forced or coerced into giving access to intimate parts of their bodies without medical justification.2

ICE has kept detention sites open despite extensive documentation of abuse. For instance, the Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS) own Office of Inspector General found in March 2022 that conditions at Torrance County Detention Center in New Mexico warranted removal of all people from the site. Five months later, a young Brazilian man named Kelsey Vial died by suicide at Torrance. Since then, conditions have continued to deteriorate—including solitary confinement, threats and verbal abuse, insect infestations, and medical neglect. Yet the facility remains open.

Black people in immigrant detention suffer particular mistreatment—they are more likely to suffer prolonged periods of detention and are less likely to be released on bond or parole than non-Black people.

Immigrant Detention is Unjust and Unnecessary

Mass immigrant detention is wrong for our country. It tears parents and caretakers away from their children, it robs families of their breadwinners, and it leaves gaping holes in the hearts of our communities. It cannot be reconciled with due process and fairness; people in detention have far less access to lawyers and the information they need to navigate the immigration system, and as a result are far less likely to prevail in their immigration cases than those not detained. The act of being detained is itself damaging physically and mentally, even for healthy individuals.

While inhumane conditions exist throughout the ICE detention system, private prison companies are some of the biggest beneficiaries of mass immigrant detention, and have pocketed hundreds of millions in taxpayer dollars from ICE contracts, many of which include wasteful contract terms. Just as you took bold action to phase out the Department of Justice’s private prison contracts, we urge you to act decisively on immigrant detention sites—the vast majority of which

5 According to one study, just 3 percent of individuals in detention and without a lawyer succeeded in their cases, compared to 74 percent of represented individuals who were released or never detained. Stacy Caplow, Peter L. Markowitz, Jojo Annobil, Peter Z. Cobb, Nancy Morawetz, Oren Root, Claudia Slovinsky, Zhifen Cheng, and Lindsay C. Nash, “Accessing Justice: The Availability and Adequacy of Counsel Removal Proceedings: New York Immigrant Representation Study Report,” Cardozo Law Review 33, no. 2 (2011-2012), https://brooklynworks.brooklaw.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1551&context=faculty&httpsredir=1&referer=. Another study found that detained immigrants represented by counsel obtained successful outcomes at a rate more than 10 times higher than those who were unrepresented. Ingrid V. Eagly and Steven Shafer, “A National Study of Access to Counsel in Immigration Court,” University of Pennsylvania Law Review 164, no. 1 (December 2015), https://scholarship.law.upenn.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=9502&context=penn_law_review.
are run by private prison companies—as a first step towards ending mass immigration incarceration. You have voiced a desire to do just that, and it is not too late.

Closing detention sites also makes fiscal sense. Continuing to invest billions of dollars in immigration jails and detention centers is fiscally irresponsible and deprives newcomers arriving to the United States of dignity and access to due process. We urge you to, instead, invest taxpayer dollars in our communities by supporting non-profit organizations providing community-based support services to those navigating the immigration court system. Reducing the costly and harmful detention system is a prerequisite to movement toward the more humane U.S. immigration policy your administration is committed to pursuing.
